

SERIOUS NON SEQUITUR

Christian Zionist Army Going to War for Israel

While I was minding my own business the other day, the phone rang. It was some guy from a fund raising, marketing outfit wanting me to donate to the Army. Right away, I wondered whose army he was talking about. Was it the Egyptian or Libyan army needing more money to further squelch the uprisings by the oppressed peoples of those countries? No, I'm pretty sure it was the U.S. Army needing the funds. First, I wanted to know from what company he was soliciting "donations." I'm not sure exactly who the outfit was, but it sounded like "P.R.O.F.I.T.S." (Patriotic Readiness for Ongoing Foreign Interventions that Stagnate). The only thing I could think to say to the voice on the phone was, "Why don't we bring our troops home to the United States from around the world? Think how much money we would save and you wouldn't have to make ludicrous appeals like this!" Bam!, I hung up the phone in a huff. "Well, I guess I told him so!" I said to myself smugly.

After some cooling down, I got to thinking about the concept of donating to the Army. Being a recovering hawk, it was difficult to wrap my brain around all the implications of this novel idea. "Don't we need to defend ourselves?" I queried my self. "Yes", I thought, "but do we really need over 700 military bases in over 130 countries around the world to be the policeman for the world?" "But what about all those bad dictators out there that the United States of America needs to put in their proper places?" said my inner hawk voice. But then I thought, "Didn't the United States support Hosni Mubarak, the Egyptian dictator for 30 years with billions of dollars of military equipment before he was ousted by the people of Egypt?" The voice of reason swelled up again in my mind and asked, "Wasn't the United States supporting Saddam Hussein and Iraq in their war against Iran in the 1980's, with military equipment and training before we decided to go to war with them two times in 1991 and 2003?" Back and forth the battle in my brain was making a bulge. It was a World War II deja vu moment!

Christian Zionist warmonger, John Hagee, has called for a preemptive strike on Iran and prayed for war. As commander of the Christian Zionist Army, he could become a self fulfilling prophet!

"Eureka!," I told myself, "What we need is a compromise for both the hawks and the peace folks. Let's bring all our troops home and close the bases around the world and only worry about defending our own shores. The savings would be tremendous. We could probably cut the military budget in half. Think of what we could do to help the current financial crisis in America." To make everyone really happy about this plan, one other key ingredient would be needed. It was now all so simple to me, when I thought back to the phone call that started this episode. For those blood-thirsty, avenging, Americans who want more wars, let them collect all the necessary funding with donations, just like the guy on the phone, so they can start a war against a country of their choice, an enemy de jur plan. Just as we have a voluntary Army, why not have voluntary wars conducted by the Christian Zionist Army, supported entirely by the segment of super patriotic, US of A citizens bent on fighting for, and, protecting Israel!

I, hereby, nominate the two leading lunatics to lead the Christian Zionist Army. Check out their credentials: "Praying for War in the Name of Jesus.".
